

D2P Games is a recently founded independent game development studio, based in Montreal (Quebec, Canada).

It was founded at the end of 2009 by three computer-sciences students, Adrien Debesson, Paul Gillen and Damien Paludetto.

As independents (or “indies”) we don’t make big-budget or triple-A games, we focus on creativity and fun.

Our first PC/Mac project, Reckless Squad, will be available on October 11th, 2010 via the distribution service GamersGate.com for less than $10.

We’re actually working on new projects for the Windows Phone 7 platform.

You can contact us at contact@d2p-games.com.
